

EDUCATION AT HVSF

Sharing Shakespeare: Online Workshops

Typically at this time of year, HVSF teaching artists would be in classrooms throughout the Hudson Valley conducting workshops to engage students. HVSF's education team is here as a resource for you as we all navigate the shift to remote learning. We have adapted our workshop curriculum to be taught online – designed to keep student's minds and bodies active.

Our team is focused on how we can support our educational community:

- For teachers as they build curriculum.
- For students as they adapt to remote learning.
- For parents as they help facilitate these new changes.

At our core, our theater speaks to the here and now. We are honoring this value as we step into this brave new world. We have adapted our workshop curriculum to speak to the current moment.

Our extraordinary team of teaching artists have developed creative ways to harness technology and engage students with Shakespeare. Our online workshops offer classroom support and new ways to interact with students.

Reach Out! Let us know how we can best support you.

Contact Sean McNall, Associate Artistic Director and Director of Education, at smcnall@hvshakespeare.org.